Quentin Grosjean and I each had a gallery in Knokke during the pandemic. From our friendly conversations on the seawall came the idea of organizing an exhibition that would bring together minimal and conceptual works from our two galleries.

The title, borrowed from a work on paper by Alighiero Boetti, ORDINE E DISORDINE, (included in the exhibition), testifies to the diversity of our interests in art and allows us to bring together more than 20 artists of different generations and nationalities.

Created in 2017 by Quentin Grosjean, QG Gallery is established mainly in Knokke and participates in numerous international fairs (Brafa, Miart, Art Chicago, Art Brussels, Art Cologne, etc.). Its program focuses on European and American minimal and conceptual art of the past 50 years.
